Guidelines ON RUBRIC

- Identify the problem and explain why it interest you personally
- Why is it important for you to know about the topic
- What are the causes of this problem (include your own personal opinion)
- Describe mainstream attitude in society about this issue and state whether you think they are justified
- Compare this problem to another country
- Locate one organization in the US and one in this other country that deals with this specific issue/problem. Describe the goals of each organization, types of services, problems and any other information you may think relevant. Give your opinion about how the two organizations compare against each other.
- If someone asked if you could recommend a website, movie/documentary, and a book about this issue/problem, what would you tell them.
- Write a brief blurb about each one, identifying the name, author/source, what it deals with specifically and what things this person would find interesting about each. You must write about all three (website, movie/documentary and book).
- Summarize the main ways this issue/problem is being addressed in the US and in the other country you have selected. Devote equal attention to both countries.
- Identify one method/approach for addressing this issue/problem that you believe is good or has potential to be effective and explain why you prefer this method/approach over others.
- As a future health educator/professional, state what contribution you can make in addressing this issue/problem on the local, national and international level. Be as specific as possible.
